

Privacy Policy

Beyond 50 Magazine respects you and your choice to do business with us both on and off line. The policy below applies to all Web site owned and operated by Beyond 50 Magazine unless otherwise indicated.

As a company it is our intent to provide our customers with a quality publication. We are also committed to exceptional customer service, which includes maintaining your privacy and any information that you provide to us.

Beyond 50 Magazine urges you to read the following statements carefully. The following is our policy presented to you in 3 parts:

- How and what information is collected
- How Beyond 50 Magazine uses customer information
- How you as a customer can retain your privacy

Every time you visit the Beyond 50 Magazine website, our servers automatically recognize your ISP domain name, but not your email address. This means our servers can identify "where" you're from, but not "who" you are. We may choose to compile aggregate statistics about Web site visitors, traffic patterns and related site information, but these statistics include no Personally Identifiable information.

Some functions and services offered through Beyond 50 Magazine's Web site may require that you provide Personally Identifiable information such as name, address, e-mail address and telephone number. This information may be collected so you can receive a request for more submissions, an email newsletter, use of an on line bulletin board or enter a contest on line.

No Personally Identifiable information can be retrieved or captured by our Web site servers unless you volunteer it.

Keeping our website up to date is part of our customer service focus. The information we collect will help us do so. We want your time with us online, easy and enjoyable.

If you choose to supply us with your email address or postal address you may receive periodic mailings about upcoming issues, or special events that Beyond 50 Magazine is involved with. When you make a submission to our magazine sometimes we may get a request from a reader for another article from you. If that happens we would contact you via email or through Canada Post. Beyond 50 Magazine will also be sending out a short note to each of our contributors to let them know when their piece will be in publication. We want our contributors to know they are part of the team and we appreciate their contributions.

Beyond 50 Magazine will not share your personal email, address or telephone number to any other businesses or individuals without your consent.
